Dear Sirs,

Utrecht's City Center is 1000 year's old and it is need to regenerate some areas in order to solve new transport facilities and preserve the importance of the place.

In order to preserve Utrecht's city center, the Plannification Office have decided several rules you should know about in order to hire you for several projects.

These rules are mostly about the buildings height and the materials you would be able to use for new buildings and refurbishments constructions. It is very important to preserve this area and its buildings styles because other wise we could loose the charm of the city and less tourist would come to visit our town.

Please, consider this as a great opportunity to help to revitalize our city.

Looking forward for your answer

Sincerely,

Paloma Botas
