

Kick-off meeting in Lisbon, December, 19th and 20th 2015

The project partnership composed by 7 organizations from 6 different European countries was welcomed by Instituto De Soldadura E Qualidade representatives in November 2015. The steering committee members discussed about the role that professionals working with young people can play in drop-out prevention, intervention and remediation. They defined the strategy development plan of intellectual outputs that are to be produced under this project:

- Consumer perceptions and practices of young digital natives
- "Digital natives" tool case: tools to educate youth about the risks of digital addictions- Information and Communication Technologies used in socio-educational activities
- "Using digital for support, it's possible" tool case: awareness tools and proposals for greater consideration of ICTs in supporting young dropouts
- Project website and online community for two-way communication and Action
- Training materials: ICT in socio-educational support activities to fight dropout

Do not lose the opportunity to learn more!

When dealing with young people, it is necessary to take an interest in their practices and try to understand what is to be taken into account. Tics project aims to develop operating methods to fight early school leaving addressing of education professionals, social workers, experts in integration and to anybody concerned with social issues, including school dropout and social exclusion.

It works on two innovative components:

- help youth discover that it is possible to use online networks in a different way by finding on line people willing to listen and to accompany them
- encourage professionals from social-educational field (social workers, experts in orientation/ insertion, trainers, etc.)to meet young people in an environment other than "on the street"
